Souvenirs

Pure Nagasaki!

NAGASAKI

Castella

The origins of the castella cake, which is a favorite of Japanese people, goes back to a confectionery introduced from Portugal.

Many famous and venerable establishments. Find your favorite castella!

Karasumi

Has a rich flavor that makes it the perfect snack with alcohol.

One of Japan's three great delicacies, made with only mullet roe and salt. In addition to the well-known dried karasumi, there is also fresh karasumi, which can be used in pasta and other dishes.

Yoriyori

A spiral-shaped Chinese snack made from fried wheat flour. When it was introduced to Nagasaki, it was called "tojinmaki." The local nickname for it is "yoriyori."

Its distinctive texture and refreshing sweetness are addictive!

Check
The products introduced here can also be purchased at Nagasaki Kaido Kamome Market, Nagasaki Products Center and elsewhere.

Ramune

A masterpiece made from 140 years of tradition and commitment.

Nagasaki was also the first place in Japan to produce ramune. Many different things came to Japan via Nagasaki, and finding them is one of the joys of sightseeing here.

Braised pork bun

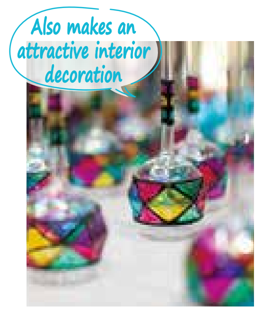
Perfect as a walking snack ♪

This is a Nagasaki specialty made from slowly simmered pork cubes sandwiched between chewy manju bun dough.

Hand towels

So cute you'll want more than one

Original designs featuring landscapes, festivals, buildings and other motifs. These hand towels are full of Nagasaki charm.



Vidro (Nagasaki glass)

Also makes an attractive interior decoration

When blown into, this fun, traditional handicraft produces a sound thanks to the elasticity of glass.

Loquat jelly

Refreshing sweets perfect for summer

Nagasaki boasts the highest production of loquats in Japan. This loquat jelly, made of an entire loquat wrapped in jelly, makes a great souvenir!

Souvenirs

Learn about a host of products, from classics to the latest items, that are perfect as Nagasaki souvenirs!

Gourmet Dining

Eat your fill of Nagasaki!!

ナガサキ飯
Nagasaki Meshi
The first question when traveling: "Where to eat?" Introducing Nagasaki, a city rich in history, cuisine, and cultural exchange!

Sara udon

Features two types of noodles, "thick" and "thin," each with a different texture and flavor.

Do you prefer the thick, chewy noodles? Or the crispy, thin noodles?

Longan-shaped kanboko is delicious!

Nagasaki oden

"Kanboko with ago soup stock" is a must! Enjoy the carefully simmered taste of Nagasaki.

Nagasaki Wagyu beef is ranked #1 in Japan

Dejima bara-iro

Characterized by its rose-colored flesh, this beef is produced by only eight farms in the city.

Milkshakes

Enjoy milkshakes in Nagasaki!

Available at a variety of locations throughout the prefecture. The refreshing sweetness and crunchy texture are irresistible!

Champon

This dish was invented by Chin Heijun to provide cheap, nutritious food for poor and hungry Chinese students who were studying in Japan. It is still loved by many people today.

Nagasaki soul food. Different stores offer different tastes, so find your favorite champon!

White tuna rolls

White tuna rolls!?

Made with wild varieties of yellowtail caught in Nagasaki and available at supermarkets.

Sashimi

Enjoy seasonal fish throughout the year at Sashimi City. Definitely give it a try!

Boasting the richest variety of fish in Japan and one of the largest catches in the country. Winter, in particular, is when you'll find many of the freshest fish that are sure to impress any foodie, including flounder, winter yellowtail, pufferfish and oysters.

Toruko rice

Generous portions! A kids' lunch for adults

Like a "kids' lunch for adults," with pilaf, cutlet, spaghetti Napolitan and other dishes all on one plate, this is an iconic, local gourmet dish of Nagasaki.

An exotic atmosphere in everyday life

City Center

Nagasaki was Japan's connection to the world.

How about some Chinese cuisine as you explore?
